DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-20 and 24, drawn to a ceramic material.

Group II, claim(s) 21 and 25, drawn to a piezo-actuator.

Group III, claim(s) 22-23, drawn to a method of making a ceramic material.

2. The groups of inventions listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The general inventive concept of the instant claims is that of the ceramic material as seen in claim 1, wherein the ceramic material is a combination of two or more ceramic materials wherein at least one is a PZT ceramic and another is a material of cryolite structure. Reference was made to the specification to determine the cryolite structure sought, as double perovskites (cryolite structure) are known in a variety of different materials. The materials sought are those alkaline earth-niobates having said structure. The instantly claimed PZT-cryolite ceramics are however known within the art. Thereafter, such a general inventive concept does not signify a 'special inventive feature' as said concept does not teach beyond what is already known within the art of record. Such teachings can be found for example in EP-0344978 (See IDS). This piece of literature teaches a material having the form of  $Pb_{1-a}M_a(Mg_{1/3}Nb_{2/3})_xTi_yZr_zO_3$ , which is a mixture of the three piezoelectric materials PZT-PMN and finally  $M(Mg_{1/3}Nb_{2/3})O_3$ . The final material is the parent structure of all of the cryolite structures claimed having magnesium as the B element, where this formula converts to  $M_4(Mg_{1/3}Nb_{2/3})O_3$ . Thereafter, this document shows the form of cryolite minerals (double perovskites) having an x value of 1. Of course, this value would necessarily change based on the atmospheric conditions and temperature disposed on the material as this ultimately affects the number of vacancies in the material. A material is thermodynamically incapable of having 0 vacancies about absolute zero. Thereafter, the materials claimed are known in the prior art and cannot represent a special technical feature. Restriction amongst the claimed groups is thus proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention or species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions have unity of invention (37 CFR 1.475(a)), applicant must provide reasons in support thereof. Applicant may submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. Where such evidence or admission is provided by applicant, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

3. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

4. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
